A black and white photograph of a wedding table setting. The table is covered with a white tablecloth and is set with several glassware items, including wine glasses and water glasses. A large, elaborate floral centerpiece, primarily composed of white roses, sits on the table. The background is softly blurred, showing what appears to be a window or a doorway. The text "Your Wedding" is overlaid in a white, elegant script font across the center of the image. The overall mood is romantic and sophisticated.
